MORE ON ROBOCO & THE FAMOUS ROBOT-LEG HOLSTERED SIDE-ARM:

The popular Robocop movie franchise began with its first release directed by Paul Verhoven, who is renowned for extremely engaging movies, often futuristically set with an underlying message about society amidst an engaging story, incredible effects, infused with his own style of satirical undertones. The movie needed a "now THAT's a gun" type of weapon for our half-man, half-robot super cop, and they chose to build upon the base of a BERETTA 93. The subsequent gun is more commonly referred to as an "AUTO 9", but we enjoyed coming up with the name "ROBOBERETTA" here at Pinfire Guns USA.
